3.1.2. Clients

1. Introduction

The Library's collections (print and electronic) are intended to meet the information needs of primary clients. The primary clients of QUT Library are QUT staff and students. In the spirit of collection sharing and community engagement, the Library does make provision for access and use of the collections by clients who are neither QUT staff or students, through a variety of arrangements.

Details of QUT client groups are available from University Pivot Tables at https://qcr.qut.edu.au/pls/qcr/whm\_env\_ctl.RenderMenuPage?pTabHierarchyID=1&pSystem=QCRNEW

3. Primary clients: Access to resources

3.1 borrowing privileges

Borrowing privileges vary for the different groups of clients described above. They are specified in detail at <http://www.library.qut.edu.au/borrowing/info.jsp>:

3.2

4. Other clients (non-QUT)

The Library also undertakes to serve the needs of other clients, not affiliated with QUT, who are eligible to use the Library’s collections in various ways. Non-QUT clients include:

- Reciprocal borrowers
- Individual Associate members
- Corporate Associate members
- Educational Associate members
- Alumni and Graduate Associate members
- School Associate members

5. Other clients: description of categories

Reciprocal borrowers include students and staff from other Australian universities. QUT is a member of the national reciprocal borrowing scheme, University Library Australia, which allows staff and students from other Australian universities to register and borrow in person from QUT Library. There are some particular arrangements for the students of other Universities in the Brisbane area, which are reviewed annually.

Individual Associate members include:

- Individual members of the general community, business and industry
- Students of other educational institutions including schools, TAFE or private training providers
- QUT graduates and Alumni members
- QUT Student Guild Employees
- Chaplains and outside members of QUT Committees

Corporate Associate members include companies and organisations who may wish purchase multiple borrower cards.

Educational associate members include Training providers offering non-university level courses who wish to purchase membership in bulk for their staff and students.

6. Other clients: borrowing privileges

Borrowing privileges vary for the different groups described above. They are specified in detail at <http://www.library.qut.edu.au/borrowing/info.jsp>
